

The More To Life Weekend teaches you how to discern the potential inherent in each new situation you encounter and trains you in a series of process tools that allow you to continue to do this in your daily life. Many people describe the course as a powerful and life-enhancing experience.

During the weekend you explore what it is like to be connected with your deepest purposes and your highest vision, unhooked from old fears or defensive patterns, and able to embrace the kind of unforeseeable creative possibilities that present themselves when you are truly free from expectations.

You learn how to forgive yourself and others, how to connect with your compassion and your love, how to share your passion and your innermost feelings, partner more deeply with people, and trust the unfolding process that is part of our growth in life when we are guided by our best instincts.

The techniques of the course will deliver you to a perspective that will promote your continuing learning and development through the very challenges you face in life every day.

The result is a life lived as it was meant to be, not as you think it 'should have been', or wish it 'ought to be'. You become more of the person you really are, and less of the one you struggle to become, or try to prove you are not.

- ~ The Weekend is from 7 pm – 11 pm Friday night (registration starts at 6pm), and from 9 am to 11:15 pm Saturday and Sunday.
- ~ Completion Evening is on Wednesday, February 22, which we like participants of the Weekend to attend. Note: Completion Evening is open to guests, and a new process will be taught to everyone present.
- ~ A free 6-week facilitated group (for participants only) follows the Weekend, during which one can practice the processes learned during the Weekend.

Special Course Model – Pay It Forward

While the registration fee for the traditional More To Life Weekend is $495, the special Pay It Forward More To Life Weekend enrollment model is different. (The course is identical to the traditional Weekend.) The registration fee is a non-refundable $95. On Sunday night, students will be asked to Pay It Forward so others can benefit from the Weekend course:

1. By making a tax-deductible financial contribution to the More To Life Foundation, and
2. By telling others about their experience so they can choose to enroll into a Weekend course, and
3. By serving on Team or in a position of service for future courses.

No demand will be made; however, we expect that once the Weekend is complete, participants will want to do this because they understand the concept of Paying It Forward.

One more thing! The research done on the Pay It Forward More To Life Weekend model indicates that people who are already successful in their lives are likely to be the ones who will get the most out of the MTLW. Thus learners, leaders, parents, and people active in the community are the demographic that we are most targeting to be participants. You're reading this because the person who gave this to you perceives you as someone who fits that demographic!
